INDIANS IN BATTLE ARRAY

Red Men Exhibit Their Prowess Before Thousands on the Bluff Tract.

LARGELY INCREASED ATTENDANCE FRIDAY

Horse Racing and Base Ball Attractions for the day. J. M. Walsh, Superintendent of Agricultural Building, Resigns.

SATURDAY

- 11:00 a. m.—Admission to Omaha band in the Machinery building.
1:30 p. m.—Belletti's Concert band in the Auditorium.
2:30 p. m.—Four running races, Indian pony race and roadster race, with Adams' race course.
3:30 p. m.—Ball game between Keith's Omaha Originals and Havelock.
4:30 p. m.—Indian dance in the Indian village on the bluff tract.
7:00 p. m.—Belletti's Concert band on the Plaza.
8:00 p. m.—Knights of Maccabees' reception in the Fraternity building.

A sham battle on the east bluff tract between Indians and cowboys attracted about 4,000 people to that vicinity Friday afternoon and the crowd seemed to enjoy the spectacle, for the applause was frequent and long. The Indians were brought in groups before the grandstand and introduced, and after that a battle was participated in between a group on foot and a straggling band mounted on ponies. The simulated excitement was quite real and the roar of the guns with the galloping of the horses and the falling men made a scene that had many elements of reality in it.

The bands of mounted men made two attacks upon the band gathered around the tontom in the foreground, but they were unable to put them to rout. After the battle there was an exhibition of rough riding by cowboys. Broncho-busting was one of the things down on the program, but the bronchos would not get excited and it was with the utmost difficulty that the ponies were made to buck, and then it was with the liberal aid of spurs.

The Indians seemed to enter into the spirit of the thing with a lively interest, and after a few rehearsals they will be able to give a very creditable exhibition of an Indian battle with their peculiar methods of warfare.

Among the other drawing cards at the White city was the free fruit at the Horticultural building in the afternoon. A very large quantity of grapes and apples was distributed. The display of fruit and flowers was visited by a great many people. There was a larger attendance of out of town people Friday than has been at the exposition in some time, and the concert at the Auditorium in the afternoon was very largely attended. The program was an excellent one and was encored liberally. One of the very best things was "Birds on a Branch," a duet for piccolos, played by Messrs. Chevre and Moeller. In the evening the band was stationed on the space in front of the Government building, where electric lights had been arranged. The people occupied seats along the side. The concert was liberally attended, and to add to the good program, Charles B. Jones, the new cornetist, gave a fine solo. There was music by the Hawaiian singers and by the Filipinos, and the ensemble was very fine. During the day Adelman's band gave two good concerts, the selections being mostly of a popular nature. The Omaha band drew a very complimentary audience by its creditable playing.

James Walsh, superintendent of the Agricultural building, handed in his resignation to the executive committee Friday afternoon and it was accepted. The reason for this move upon the part of Mr. Walsh was the fact that he is a candidate for county commissioner in the Third district this fall, and he feels that he needs the time to devote to his candidacy. He will visit the exposition each week and render any assistance in his power, hence his place will not be filled. It is through Mr. Walsh's efforts that such a large and creditable showing has been made in the Agricultural department, he having worked indefatigably after his appointment to make the display a success.

NEW ATTRACTIONS ARE PROVIDED.

Base Ball Exhibitions Will Be Introduced Saturday and Sunday.

The pleasure of witnessing first-class amateur ball games will be afforded visitors to the exposition this and Sunday afternoon, at which time and place the Omaha Originals will contest honors with the Havelock team. Much interest in the forthcoming games is manifest and the indications are that the attendance, especially at the afternoon game, will be large.

There will be no additional charge to view the games, which will be played on the recently constructed diamond. A commodious grandstand has been erected for the comfort of those who witness the sport. The games will be held each afternoon at 3:30 and the line-up of the players will be as follows:

- Havelock. Positions.
Fairfield. Second base.
Bradford. First base.
Wagner. Catcher.
Morrison. Pitcher.

Exposition Notes.

Bandmaster Belletti and Director Kelly have arranged a fine program of music for the Sunday afternoon and evening concerts. A large attendance is looked for this evening at the reception to be given by the Knights of the Maccabees, which will be held in the Fraternal building, beginning at 8 o'clock.

John Dunn has been appointed watchman in the Mines and Mining building in the place of Dave Burrows, who has been an ex-policeman, has been appointed a guard and began his work Friday night.

Manager J. T. Hayward received word Friday that he would have space at the Paris exposition to place his gold mining show. Harry Lee of the Bureau of Mining and Geology has the matter under his charge and has notified Mr. Hayward that the show will be taken to Paris. An attraction for the sporting element will be the horse race between Buck Keith's Omaha Originals and the team from Havelock. The game will be played on the race course, where a good diamond has been laid out, immediately after the races, which are billed for 2:30, instead of the usual time. A. Alforno, the renowned high wire walker, arrived on the grounds Friday afternoon and began to oversee the arrangements for his great act that will be given for the first time Monday. Mr. Alforno is known the country over, he having been engaged in many of the large cities and has appeared as a star attraction at many big gatherings. He not only walks on a high wire, but performs seemingly impossible feats, such as wheeling a stove out on the wire and cooking therein, walking blindfolded and giving an exhibition of fireworks on the wire. High poles will be placed at either side of the Lagoon today and the wire stretched across for the next week's performance.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Every one desiring to vote at the election to be held on November 7 must register. Registration books in the nine precincts in the city will be open on Thursday, October 19, or Friday, October 27, and on Saturday, November 4. Last fall the total registration was 3,235, divided between the wards and precincts as follows:

- First Ward—First precinct, 509; Second precinct, 341; Third precinct, 429; total, 1,279.
Second Ward—First precinct, 381; Second precinct, 273; Third precinct, 215; total, 969.
Third Ward—First precinct, 357; Second precinct, 297; total, 654.

The fall registration of 1897 showed a vote of 2,887, while that of 1898 was 3,235, an increase in one year of 348 votes. It is expected that the increase this year will be much larger than last year on account of the employment of more men by the packing houses. Some of those who watch these matters think that the registration this fall will reach 3,600 and possibly more. South Omaha has grown a great deal within the last twelve months, but just how much can hardly be estimated until it is known what the increase in registration is.

The law enacted by the last legislature in connection with the expenditure of money by candidates is causing some little uneasiness here, as it has been a violation of the law for candidates to be lavish in the expenditure of money, and it is feared that the sudden change in the method of procedure may tend to lighten the vote. Candidates are apparently willing to comply with the provisions of the law, as a violation thereof is a person ineligible for office even if elected. An interesting campaign is looked forward to by both parties. The split in the democratic party may cause an increase in the number of republican votes cast. At least that is the prediction of some democrats who do not like the manner in which the democratic in control have acted lately.

Found Dead in a Saloon.

James Vorak was found dead in a back room at Blum's saloon on lower N street yesterday morning, and the remains were removed to the morgue by Undertaker Brewer. Coroner Swanson was notified and after an investigation decided that there was no cause for holding an inquest. For some time past Vorak has been drinking heavily. About 10 o'clock Friday night he entered Blum's saloon in an intoxicated condition and asked for some place to lie down. He was shown a back room used for the storage of packing boxes, etc., and he went to sleep with his head resting on a bundle of old papers. From all indications death was caused by an over-indulgence in intoxicating liquors. The body was turned over to the county for burial.

Reopening of Presbyterian Church.

The First Presbyterian church, which has been closed for several weeks, undergoing repairs under the direction of the Ladies' Aid society, will be reopened Sunday morning. The Sunday school will convene at 9:45 a. m. under direction of Dr. J. E. Crothers. The morning service will be at 11 o'clock, at which time Dr. Robert L. Wheeler, the pastor, will preach. The significance of the Reopening of Our Church is in the evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. Wheeler speaks on the topic, "Concerning the Opening of Our Public Schools." Patrons of the schools and members of the Board of Education are cordially invited to attend this service. Special music will be provided for the occasion.

CLEVER GRAFTER PROSPERS

Smoothen Man with New Idea Finds Many Victims Among Tenants Who Desire Repairs Made.

A man with original ideas and a new graft worked a number of people for small sums last week, and as a consequence is now engraving the time of several detectives detailed to find him. The stranger gave the name of J. H. Kelsey. His graft was to wear clothing similar to that of a working man, visit dwellings which he knew to be rented, and pass himself off as a mechanic sent by the owner of the building to make a few repairs at the tenant's expense.

The plan worked like a charm and the impostor was not discovered until the date of the rent was due. Then the tenant of a flat, presenting as part payment for the rent one of Kelsey's receipts, bills, gave the swap away. The collector as he went along the row found nearly all the tenants had small sums accepted in part payment of rent. They were accepted, but when taken to the office and shown to the owner he disclaimed any knowledge of them and asserted he had sent no one to make repairs.

Kelsey used discretion in selecting dwellings to visit. He looked for a place where the rent was paid in advance, and the monthly rent and did not quarrel over the amount asked as recompense for the tasks. In this way Kelsey was able to charge considerable more than the work was worth. Among the houses where he had most trouble with the man was S. Richenberg, who owns the flat at the corner of Eighteenth and California streets. He first discovered the fraud when Mrs. Sparks, one of his tenants, handed him a bill for $1 for mending an awning. More discoveries of the same kind followed, and the police expect to hear of similar complaints in the next few days.

NIGHT VIGIL IN THE ARMOY

Body of Captain Forby Lies in State at Drill Hall of Thurston Rifles.

The body of Captain Lee Forby lies in state at the armory of the Thurston Rifles, the company he formerly commanded. Uniformed soldiers composing the guard of honor pace slowly backward and forward beside the bier, and everywhere in the dimly lighted hall the stars and stripes stand out in bold relief among a profusion of funeral decorations.

The sombre cloth-covered casket rests near the middle of the floor in a bower of potted palms. Over the feet is draped a silver flag with clusters of long-stemmed tuberoses in its folds. At the head is a beautiful mourning wreath of Dewey roses, narcissus and fern. Beneath this is a chased silver plate, bearing the simple inscription, "Captain Lee Forby, aged 23."

Although many of Captain Forby's friends and acquaintances visited the armory Friday evening, an impressive quiet reigned in the drawing rooms and the drill hall, where the body lay. People in groups of two and three inspected the bier and conversation was carried on in subdued whispers. The casket was taken from the undertaker's at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and it will be kept in the armory until the funeral, Sunday at 1 o'clock. The guard of honor will be recruited from the returned members of the Rifles and the junior members alternately. Those who have the night watch will be chosen from the ranks of the associate members and the soldiers, who will be on duty during the day, have been

Money Burned His Pocket.

Sidner Hines, a young man from Chicago, was arrested Friday for stealing $200 of which he said he had been relieved by a woman acquaintance. Upon investigation it was found that Hines was a trifle flighty at times and was laboring under a small roll of bills and had been played for "a good thing" by everybody. Hines bought goods of all descriptions from various people without regard to whether or not he had the money. He had three suits of clothing, a bicycle, revolvers, pipes and other articles purchased along the street from the depot to the business part of the city. When Hines looked through his pockets he found $20 of the sum he supposed was stolen and the police got track of about $20 spent in treating the singers and dancers in a music hall.

Appoints a Bailiff.

Judge Dwyer has appointed Ed Stout as bailiff in No. 5 court room, the appointment to take effect at once. He succeeds Charles H. Stout, who was formerly bailiff in the criminal court room, but resigned a year ago to go into business for himself.

MISS FRANCES MUFF'S MONEY

Nearly All Recovered from Bartender Cole, Who is Charged with Grand Larceny.

Lyman Cole, the bartender who confessed Miss Frances Muff out of $200 when out riding with her, and later had "a good time" with a portion of the money, is charged with grand larceny. When questioned by Captain Donahue Friday morning, Cole admitted having received the money from the young woman, but insisted that he had spent all excepting the $30 in his pockets when searched. The captain believed a part of the money had been "planted," and on investigation learned that for three weeks having met him at a dance, and a number of acquaintances that he had in common assured her Cole was a straightforward man. She said Cole was aware she had the money, but he did not know it was hers until she told him of the circumstances during the drive. Miss Muff told the police captain that Cole obtained the money from her for the purpose of making a "hash" on some of his friends. KNIFEBLADE DECIDES CASE

Unwillingness of Witness to Claim Ownership Gives Two Suspects Freedom.

In police court Friday afternoon the hearing of Geri Maffey and James Hannon on the charge of burglary occupied the entire time. The men were discharged, the judge holding that there was not sufficient evidence to establish proof of guilt. McCoy and Hannon were suspected of robbing the dwelling of N. Bartelsen, 932 South Twentieth street, last Friday night. The men were seen in Peterson's saloon in the immediate neighborhood of the preceding evening, carrying walking sticks similar to the ones found in Bartelsen's front yard the morning the burglary was discovered. Among the property stolen by the burglars was a pocketknife with the blade tip broken. Such a knife was found in Hannon's possession when he was searched at the jail, but Bartelsen would not swear positively the knife was the one taken from him.

Improving the System.

The proprietors of the East Omaha street railway are expending considerable money in putting their line in better condition.
